About Us

The purpose and membership of the Peggy's Cove Commission (PCC) is not something that is widely known or understood. The Act of legislation that guides the Commission is specific to the Peggy's Cove Preservation Area, which includes the Village of Peggy's Cove. The primary objective of the Act and the Commission is: to preserve the unique scenic beauty, character, and atmosphere of the Area for the enjoyment of both residents and visitors. In alignment with that objective, one of the most significant tasks assigned to the Commission by the legislation, is: regulating the erection, construction, alteration, or repair of buildings within the Area (see link below). In accordance with section four of the Peggy's Cove Commission Act, the membership of the Peggy's Cove Commission consists of:

The municipal councillor for the polling district that includes Peggy's Cove; one representative of the Nova Scotia Department of Economic Development; the Provincial Director of Planning for the Province; and not more than four additional members appointed by the Governor in Council, three of whom shall be residents of the Area.

The four public member commissioners are volunteers and serve a four-year term. They provide invaluable first hand insight and through their commitment in supporting the community, the Commission endeavours to deliver the mandate of the legislation.

Welcome New Commissioners

The Peggy's Cove Commission is pleased to announce three new Commission members.

Maria Bartholomew

Maria loves calling Peggy's Cove home and she is pleased to serve on the commission as a resident. She believes the rugged landscape, vibrant community, and the historic fishery are worth celebrating and preserving. Her extensive travels have instilled a deep appreciation for diverse human experiences, and has fostered a profound reverence for nature. Having sailed and lived for over a year aboard several tall ships, she is particularly drawn to the ocean.

Maria has an expansive professional history which began working as a forest fire-fighter, and later radio operator for the Ministry of Natural Resources in northern Ontario. After completing a BEd in Outdoor and Experiential Education, Maria taught in a variety of capacities including leading academic and experiential field studies programs in over 20 countries. Until recently, Maria taught instrumental string music, orchestra, and conducted choirs within the HRCE. Now a registered counselling therapist, she is currently operating a private practice and pursuing other creative and musical endeavours. Throughout her professional career, Maria has routinely been involved in community, educational, and creative organizations, including serving on the board of Choirs for Change. She enjoys crafting, gardening, creating music, and watching the magnificent sunrises and sunsets from the rocks outside her home.

Judy Dauphinee

As a teenager Judy participated in several community groups and was a founding member of a group dedicated to providing extramural activities for youth in the area and she also participated in student government while in high school. Judy moved to Peggy's Cove and began a career in the hospitality industry welcoming visitors from over the world in 1977 after earning her Bachelor of Commerce degree from Dalhousie. It was a point of pride to participate in an industry that helped to supplement the financing of hundreds of students' postsecondary education. Judy is still working seasonally in tourism which allows more time for her to pursue her various hobbies. She has been actively involved with the Peggy's Cove Preservation Society since its inception in 1983 and is pleased to have the opportunity to serve on the Peggy's Cove Commission. Judy looks forward to her role in helping to guide our dynamic community into the future.
